

TruWrinkle

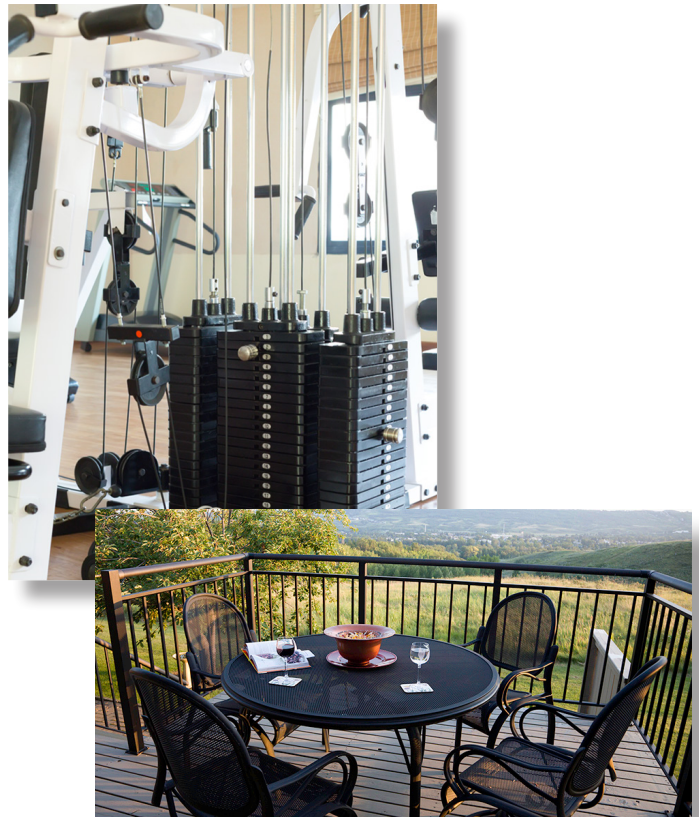

Textured Powder Coatings

Wrinkle powder coatings have been around for years and have been a well received look for a variety of different uses. With this, there have been issues surrounding this technology as well. In short, not all wrinkles are created equal. TCI, through years of research and field testing, has developed both epoxy and polyester versions that apply extremely well, perform well, and look excellent. The issues around "starring" have been virtually eliminated, "puddling" has been drastically reduced, and the formulation has been optimized to provide you a consistent wrinkle finish. If you want a wrinkle, you can get one virtually anywhere, but if you want the only TruWrinkle, call TCI!
